One of Krabi's most iconic natural landmarks, the Khao Khanab Nam Mountains can be accessed by longtail boat from the Chao Fah Pier.

Simply negotiate with a boat captain for a two-hour boat charter out to the area - be sure to include a short trip to the surrounding Mangroves and a stopover at the nearby Ko Klang fishing village that's only accessible by boat.

The mountains are about 15 minutes away from the pier, and contain several cave sites filled with rock formations. These stalagmites and stalactites are a reflection of the Khao Khanab Nam Caves' long history, and are a beauty to see up close.

After exploring the caves, head to Ko Klang. This little fishing village just off the coast of Krabi feels completely different from the mainland, with many of the locals ferrying over to Krabi for work.

4

1645-1845: Explore the Phra Nang Cave Beach

The easiest way to get to Phra Nang Cave Beach is to take a longtail boat from Ao Nang, which is only a 10-15 minute trip away.

Surrounded by stunning limestone cliffs and crystal clear waters, this little beach enclave is a lot quieter in the late afternoon - making it the perfect spot for relaxing on the sands.

If you're up for some adventure, head to the southern end of the beach, where you'll find the famous Princess Cave. Snap some photos at the mouth of the cave before heading on a hike deeper into the cliffside, where you'll find the hidden lagoon of Sha Phra Nang - or Holy Princess Pool.

Take your time to admire the beautiful scenery of Phra Nang Cave Beach, before heading back to Ao Nang.

5

1845-1930: Explore Ao Nang

Your homebase in Krabi will be Ao Nang - arguably the island's most famous resort town.

With a wide variety of local and international dining options, hotels for every budget, as well as plenty of shops and nightlife, there's plenty to explore in Ao Nang itself.

After that, you'll set off for the ethereal Sra Morakot (Emerald Pool). Like its name suggests, the waters of this tranquil freshwater pool inside the Khao Phra Bang Khram Nature Reserve have an emerald hue. This is a result of the minerals in the surrounding limestone hills, which trickle into the pool when the rains fall. Here, you'll enjoy a picnic lunch by the beautiful waters.

The final stop will be the Wat Tahm Suea (Tiger Cave Temple), aptly named for the rock formation nearby that resembles a tiger's claw.
